

Thanksgiving

bingo

There's a weird silence after someone says something inappropriate	It's begun. The political debate has started	Someone is at the dinner table and you have no idea who they are	Tears are shed, and not because a baby is crying	Christmas music has started playing
Someone brought food you don't recognize	When asked what they are thankful for, someone wings the answer	You hear "I just want a tiny slice..."	Is that a smoke detector going off?	Well, that's awkward. Someone has unbuckled their belt next to you
Let the puns begin. Someone is sharing their best jokes	You spot a pet snacking on food from the table		Someone has been told to watch their weight when it's time for dessert	There is a surprise toast made
Someone who didn't cook anything is critiquing the food	Oh snap. A beverage has spilled	A heated debate has started and you are just silently watching	A selfie is being taken with the turkey	Someone says they are stuffed and rubs their belly
The topic of animal rights has come up	ZzzZzzZz... The first one to pass out from eating too much has been sighted	Someone has to leave early to get started on Black Friday shopping	Advice has been given on how the food should be cooked	You've heard the words, "I've barely had anything to drink"